

SHOPPING

MOST WANTED

From simple pleasures to ultimate luxuries

WRITTEN AND PRODUCED BY ANNE MONOKY

Soly Luna adds a generous dose of luxe to a run-of-the-mill garden tool with its leather-sheathed watering can. Available in rich Cognac, shown, or brown and trimmed with gutsy topstitching, it measures 12" tall and costs $115 at the recently opened Monc XIII boutique in Sag Harbor, New York. monc13.com, 631-808-3333

An elegant addition to Houston decorator J. Randall Powers's line of lighting for Visual Comfort & Co., the Belgravia table lamp features an urn base in a gilded or white-plaster finish. It stands 29.5" tall and costs $735, 23"-dia. paper shade included, at Circa Lighting. circalighting.com, 877-762-2323

Inspired by midcentury jewelry designs, this magnificent 18K-yellow-gold brooch by Bulgari combines emeralds, diamonds, sapphires, and turquoise stones of different cuts and sizes in a striking 3"-dia. starburst setting. Price upon request. bulgari.com, 800-285-4274

Terrain's Cut Flowers melamine dinnerware collection—comprising a 14" charger, 11" dinner plate, and 9" dessert plate—references 18th-century botanical illustrations. Offered in a variety of vibrant patterns, they cost $36, $20, and $16 apiece, respectively. shopterrain.com, 877-583-7724

The design motif and crenellated rim of Penroyer Newman's Royal Crown resin-composite planter is modeled after an antique zinc original from France. Produced in a range of colors (lead-gray is pictured), the lightweight cylindrical container measures 30" h. x 28" dia. and costs $1,800. penroyernewman.com, 212-839-0500