

pot luck

What's the one thing the White House, the New York Public Library, and the streets of SoHo have in common? They're all graced with Pennoyer Newman's exclusive garden pots, cast from historic originals and made with marble, rock, and resin. The Riveted Rectangle pot (below) replicates the design of an old cistern—and just happens to bear a fashionable resemblance to a Louis Vuitton trunk. "It's up to our generation," says partner Virginia Newman Yocum, "to revive some of the best examples of garden art from the past." $1,275, Pennoyer Newman, 200 Lexington Ave., Suite 416, NYC, 212-839-0500, pennoyernewman.com. —P.A.

